With more than 1.2 billion PC gamers worldwide, the PC platform continues to be the top choice for the best gaming experiences. To demonstrate the latest and greatest in gaming, Intel will host its first E3 press conference on June 12 at the Theatre at Ace Hotel, revealing exciting news and previews across games, virtual reality and esports. Presented by the Entertainment Software Association (ESA), E3 is the world’s premier event for computer, video and mobile games.

In addition to the E3 press conference, Intel will serve as the presenting sponsor for the third annual PC Gaming Show, offering back-to-back press briefings on June 12 to highlight the innovations Intel is helping drive across the industry with key partners.

Intel News Conference

As the leader in making incredible gaming and VR experiences possible with the 7th Generation Intel® Core™ processor, and with its decade-long history in esports with Intel® Extreme Masters (IEM), Intel will reveal where the PC gaming industry is headed next.
